

Benesyst Partners with TASC

TASC and Benesyst have joined forces and combined will provide a broader range of services to any size employer anywhere in the country.

Madison, Wis. (November 27, 2012) – TASC (Total Administrative Services Corporation), a provider of tax-advantaged medical and other benefit account management services, announces that Benesyst has become a Division of TASC with primary focus in large national accounts. With locations in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Cincinnati, Ohio, and more than 80 employees, TASC immediately increases its capabilities and capacities including Benesyst's technology team and data center.

By joining forces with TASC, Benesyst preserves its culture of performance and service excellence, while gaining scale-based advantages of a national organization with nearly 700 employees in 60 locations. As a Division of TASC, Benesyst's distribution network will have access to a strong portfolio of services for small and mid-market employers. TASC will have new products to bring to its established customer base in all size markets, including BeneScholar™ Online Educational Expense Reimbursement program; BeneSmart® Online Enrollment and Eligibility platform; and Wellness Rewards Administration services.

Benesyst's Chief Executive Officer Rob Contin cited TASC's extensive use of technology and the broad range of services the two companies can offer. "This merger increases our ability to provide industry-leading services to the national accounts marketplace and enhances our ability to fund, execute, and deliver joint technologies that position employers for upcoming changes in the business and legislative environments," says Contin. "Benesyst and TASC combined will provide a broader range of services to virtually any size employer."
